

Designing a home you will love

Creating contemporary, stylish and comfortable homes is what Jason Anderson does best! He's designed hundreds of beautiful homes throughout Marlborough and New Zealand that not only reflect the wants and needs of his clients, but also complement the environment in which they are built.

Jason and his wife Paige established their business, Anderson Architectural Design one year ago. What began as a homebased business with clients located across the Tasman has now expanded as far as Queenstown and Tauranga.

What's more, their local client base has grown to the point where they relocated to an office within Blenheim's CBD, and now plans are in motion to move to larger space early next year.

"Our growth is a huge reason for celebration," Jason says. "As it shows the incredible amount of support we've received and we thank everyone who has helped us to get where we are today."

As a qualified architectural designer, Jason works on a wide range of designs from high end homes and large scale renovation projects, through to smaller budget builds.

"We can be working on builds between $300,000 through to $2.5million. A large portion of our work comes from private clients who come to us with a section they've purchased and some ideas of what they want.

"Most importantly, I like to get to know the client first and establish a relationship with them so that we both have an understanding of exactly what they are wanting," he says. Jason sits down with clients and goes through an indepth process where they work our everything from the budget and timeframes, through to which builder or building company they want to build with.

"It's a very detailed and open process. At the end of the day we want to produce a design that ticks all the boxes.

"We also believe in treating our clients how we would want to be treated. Our approach is providing ongoing communication, complete transparency and above all, a home that is 100percent what you wanted," Jason says.

Jason's experience and ongoing research into the building market means that no matter what the design brief is, or how geographically challenging the location is, he can provide a number of options to the client.

"I've worked on projects in remote locations throughout Marlborough, including one in the Sounds that we are hoping to feature on the Grand Designs television show," Jason says. "We've also completed a build at the Marlborough Ridge and have several other big projects in the pipeline."

Testimonial

"Jason and the team at Anderson Architectural are a pleasure to work with, very professional and easy to work with. Understood exactly what we were after from the very first meeting, which gave us great confidence that we were working with the right person. He was able to offer some great suggestions and expand further on our ideas. Concept plans were drawn and received within a week, and with a few minor tweaks final plans soon followed. A very quick, efficient service that I have never experienced before, dealing with architects. If you are looking for an architect with great skills, great communication, easily relate-able and offering an all round excellent service, then I would highly recommend Jason from Anderson architectural. Thanks Jason, looking forward to the build now."
